INTERNATIONAL COUNTER-TERRORISM CONFERENCE

JUNE 5 - 7, 2013

ANTONIO R. VILLARAIGOSA
MAYOR

June 4, 2013

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the City of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles-Long Beach Urban Area, it is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that I welcome you to the National Homeland Security Conference happening this year in partnership with the Leadership in Counterterrorism Conference (LinCT).

As homeland security issues remain more important than ever, I am honored to host the nation's homeland security community here in the great city of Los Angeles. The 2013 Conference, represented by the theme "Homeland Security Begins with Hometown Security", brings together the brightest minds in homeland security, including representatives from all emergency response disciplines, every level of government, and our international partners in homeland security. The work you do every day is truly important, and I thank you for your collaborative commitment to keeping our great nation and its urban areas safe. Thank you for traveling to Los Angeles to be part of this important conversation.

The 2013 National Homeland Security Conference promises to be a rewarding and historic experience. The City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles-Long Beach Urban Area, National Homeland Security Association, and our LinCT partners worked diligently to honor this special occasion and working together have produced a commendable week focused on homeland security.

I extend my best wishes for a memorable event. Enjoy the conference and enjoy the City of Los Angeles!

Very truly yours,

ANTONIO R. VILLARAIGOSA
Mayor

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the National Homeland Security Association, Inc, I am pleased to welcome you to the 7th Annual National Homeland Security Conference hosted for the first time by the City of Los Angeles.

We are pleased to announce many new features this year including our partnership with the Leadership in Counterterrorism Conference, site visits and seminars throughout the Los Angeles-Long Beach Urban Area, expanded Transit Security and Public-Private Partnership program tracks, and a brand new Pre-Planned Events program track. Expanded Conference opportunities such as these mean that the 2013 Conference will address a more diverse array of homeland security issues than ever before. As you can see from this year's speakers and topics, the 2013 Conference in Los Angeles will be the most contemporary and multi-discipline focused conference yet. We look forward to taking this annual event to new levels by creating a truly invaluable professional experience and national conversation.

No other Conference in the nation gathers together for the unique focus of building homeland security via hometown security. I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the National Homeland Security Association (NHSA) Board, made up of ten diligent leaders from across the nation, and thank them for their commitment to work with leaders throughout the nation to plan this Conference annually.

On behalf of the entire NHSA Board, we hope you have a wonderful, productive week.

Sincerely,

Dear Friends and Supporters:

On behalf of the men and women of the Los Angeles Police Department, I would like to personally thank you for attending this year's Leadership in Counter-Terrorism (LinCT) Conference. For the first time, this conference will be held in conjunction with the 2013 National Homeland Security Conference. The joint event will serve as an extraordinary experience for both audiences.

This will be a Five-Eyes focused conference drawing attendees, experts and representatives from the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. Attendees will gather to train, network and share international counter-terrorism ideas. These efforts are critical as law enforcement continues to seek innovative strategies to combat terrorism.

Once again, I applaud your commitment to this cause and best wishes for a most enjoyable conference.

Very truly yours,

Dear Friends and Counter-Terrorism Executives:

On behalf of the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) and the Leadership in Counter-Terrorism (LinCT) Alumni Association, we are pleased to welcome you to the 7th Annual LAPD and LinCT world class international counter-terrorism conference. This conference will be in conjunction with the 2013 National Homeland Security Conference. This is the first time in the history that these two conferences have been combined. This will serve as an extraordinary experience for both audiences

This conference will be a FIVE Eyes focused conference drawing from practitioners representing the law enforcement, intelligence, and military communities from the United States, United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, delivering a series of presentations, panel discussions, and breakout education sessions for an expected 1250 invited participants. The conference will focus on the following topics:

- Intelligence Enterprise, Integration, and Improving the Vertical
- Evolving Threats both Physical and Virtual (Cyber Warfare)
- Operations and Approaches
- Community Engagement
- The Victims of Terrorism and the Way Forward

Once again, on behalf of the entire LinCT board and the Los Angeles Police Department's Counter-Terrorism and Special Operations Bureau, we hope you enjoy the conference and the wonderful City of Los Angeles.

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the City of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles/Long Beach Urban Area. We are honored that you have come to Los Angeles for this year's National Homeland Security Conference. We are also proud to join together with the Los Angeles Police Department's Leadership in Counterterrorism Conference (LinCT).

As first responders, we share in the commitment you have made in making your hometowns safer and more prepared to respond to and recover from manmade and natural disasters. We have all seen too many tragic events in our nation this year. We hope that this year's Conference theme of "Homeland Security Begins with Hometown Security" gives you new tools to protect your regions.

If you are participating in the site visits and seminars, you will be able to experience some of our region's best homeland security assets. We hope that you find this new Conference feature informative and you take back best practices to your own agencies.

We wish you a wonderful week participating at the Conference and collaborating with old and new colleagues from around the nation.

National Homeland Security Conference Host Reception June 5th

USS Iowa

Built in 1940, the USS Iowa served our country for over 50 years. Designated the “World’s Greatest Naval Ship” due to her big guns, heavy armor, fast speed, longevity and modernization, she kept pace with technology for all of her years of service. During her more than 50 years in service, Iowa has welcomed and escorted our nation’s Commander in Chief on many occasions. No other battleship in our nation’s history has been host to more U.S. Presidents than the Iowa.

The USS Iowa (BB-61) was the lead ship of her class of battleship and the fourth in the United States Navy to be named in honor of the 29th state. Owing to the cancellation of the Montana-class battleships, Iowa is the last lead ship of any class of United States battleships and was the only ship of her class to have served in the Atlantic Ocean during World War II.

During World War II, she carried President Franklin D. Roosevelt across the Atlantic to Casablanca en route to a crucial 1943 meeting in Tehran with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet leader Josef Stalin. When transferred to the Pacific Fleet in 1944, Iowa shelled beachheads at Kwajalein and Eniwetok in advance of Allied amphibious landings and screened aircraft carriers operating in the Marshall Islands. She also served as the Third Fleet flagship, flying Adm. William F. Halsey’s flag at the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay. During the Korean War, Iowa was involved in raids on the North Korean coast, after which she was decommissioned into the United States Navy reserve fleets, better known as the “mothball fleet.” She was reactivated in 1984 as part of the 600-ship Navy plan and operated in both the Atlantic and Pacific Fleets to counter the recently expanded Soviet Navy. In April 1989, an explosion of undetermined origin wrecked her No. 2 gun turret, killing 47 sailors.

The USS Iowa was decommissioned for the last time in 1990, and was initially stricken from the Naval Vessel Register in 1995. She was reinstated from 1999 to 2006 to comply with federal laws that required retention and maintenance of two Iowa-class battleships. In 2011, Iowa was donated to the Los Angeles-based non-profit Pacific Battleship Center and was permanently moved to Berth 87 at the Port of Los Angeles in the summer of 2012, where she was opened to the public to serve as a museum and memorial to battleships.

Space Shuttle Endeavour

Space Shuttle Endeavour is one of the retired orbiters of the Space Shuttle program of NASA, the space agency of the United States. Endeavour was the fifth and final space worthy NASA space shuttle to be built and first flew in May 1992. The STS-134 mission was originally planned as the final mission of the Space Shuttle program, but with authorization of the STS-135 mission, Atlantis became the last Space Shuttle to fly.

The United States Congress authorized the construction of Endeavour in 1987 to replace Challenger, which was lost in the STS-51-L launch accident in 1986. Structural spares built during the construction of Discovery and Atlantis, two of the previous shuttles, were used in its assembly. NASA chose to build Endeavour from spares rather than refitting Enterprise or accepting a Rockwell International proposal to build two shuttles for the price of one of the original shuttles, on cost grounds.

The orbiter is named after the British HMS Endeavour, the ship which took Captain James Cook on his first voyage of discovery (1768-1771). This is why the name is spelled in the British English manner, rather than the American English ("Endeavor"). This has caused confusion, most notably when NASA themselves misspelled a sign on the launch pad in 2007. The name also honored Endeavour, the Command Module of Apollo 15, itself also named after Cook's ship.

Endeavour was named through a national competition involving students in elementary and secondary schools. Entries included an essay about the name, the story behind it and why it was appropriate for a NASA shuttle, and the project that supported the name. Endeavour was the most popular entry, accounting for almost one-third of the state-level winners. The national winners were Senatobia Middle School in Senatobia, Mississippi, in the elementary division and Tallulah Falls School in Tallulah Falls, Georgia, in the upper school division. They were honored at several ceremonies in Washington, D.C., including a White House ceremony where then-President George H. W. Bush presented awards to each school.

Endeavour completed its final mission with a landing at the Kennedy Space Center at 06:34 UTC on June 1, 2011. Over its flight career, Endeavour flew 122,853,151 miles and spent 299 days in space. While flying Endeavour's last mission, the Russian spacecraft Soyuz TMA-20 departed from the ISS and paused at a distance of 200 meters. Italian astronaut Paolo Nespoli took a series of photographs and videos of the ISS with Endeavour docked. This was the second time a Shuttle had been photographed while docked and the first time since 1996. Commander Mark Kelly was the last astronaut off Endeavour after the landing, and the crew stayed on the landing strip long enough to sign autographs and pose for pictures. With Commander Mark Kelly and pilot Gregory Johnson at the controls, Endeavour's touchdown was the 25th time a shuttle performed a night landing.

Kristin Aga
Superintendent,
Violent Crime Unit of Oslo Police
District

Kristin Aga graduated from the Norwegian Police University College in 1998. During her whole police career she has focused on family liaison work. Before she started her police career she worked with children and adults in psychiatric care. In addition to the Norwegian Police University College she has studied criminology and psychology at university level.

In 2004 she was employed by the Violent Crime Unit of Oslo Police District where she is still working as a Police Superintendent specializing in family liaison work. The main task of the Violent Crime Unit is to investigate homicide and attempted homicide. In addition to being an investigator, has always been dedicated to dealing with family members. In 2004 she was the family liaison officer for several families involved in the tsunami, and had an important role related to the identification of Norwegian victims.

During the terrorist attacks in Norway on 22 July 2011 she was responsible for following up the families of the 77 deceased. She managed a group of 30 family liaison officers from the 27 police districts involved.

She is a member of the national identification group of KRIPOS (The National Criminal Investigation Service) and a member of a group working to develop a new course at the National Police University College for family liaison issues. Based on experience from the tsunami and the terrorist attacks on the Government buildings and Utøya in July 2011, she has obtained substantial experience within family liaison work.

Arif Alikhan
Director of Airport Police &
Deputy Executive Director for Homeland
Security, Fire/EMS, and Law Enforcement
Los Angeles World Airports (LAX, ONT, VNY)

Arif Alikhan recently joined Los Angeles World Airports as its new Director of Airport Police and Deputy Executive Director for Homeland

Security and Law Enforcement. Director Alikhan is responsible for overseeing the 1,100 civilian and sworn law enforcement personnel of the Los Angeles World Airports Police Department and over 100 firefighter and paramedics responsible for protecting Los Angeles International, Ontario International, and Van Nuys Airports.

Prior to his appointment, Director Alikhan served as a Distinguished Professor of Homeland Security and Counterterrorism at National Defense University's (NDU) College of International Security Affairs in Washington.

In 2009 Director Alikhan was appointed to the Obama Administration as the Assistant Secretary for Policy Development at the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Prior to his appointment to the Administration, Director Alikhan was the Deputy Mayor for Homeland Security and Public Safety for the City of Los Angeles.

His legal experience includes serving as a federal prosecutor in Los Angeles, as the first chief of the Cyber and Intellectual Property Crimes Section for the U.S. Attorney's Office, and as a senior advisor to two U.S. Attorneys General on civil and criminal intellectual property initiatives and cybercrime issues.

Admiral Thad Allen
Senior Vice President,
Booz Allen Hamilton

Admiral Thad Allen (United States Coast Guard, Retired) is a Senior Vice President at Booz Allen Hamilton, and provides thought leadership and client engagement for the Justice and Homeland Security business.

He retired from the United States Coast Guard after serving as the 23rd Commandant in June 2010. Prior senior leadership assignments included Chief of Staff, Atlantic Area Commander, Commander of the Seventh Coast Guard District, and Coast Guard Director of Resources.

In 2005 President George W. Bush selected Allen to lead the response to Hurricanes Katrina and Rita as the Principal Federal Official. In 2010 President Obama selected him to lead the response to the Deepwater Horizon oil spill as the National Incident Commander.

In 39 years of service in the Coast Guard Allen served in a wide variety of operational assignments. He graduated from the Coast Guard Academy (BS in Management) and earned Masters Degrees at The George Washington University (Public Administration) and MIT Sloan School of Management (Management Science).

Allen is a Fellow in the National Academy of Public Administration and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He serves as a Director with the Coast Guard Foundation and the Partnership for Public Service.

Assistant Commissioner
Chris Allison, MBE

Chris Allison has been in the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) for the whole of his policing career and for the majority of those 29 years, this has been as a uniformed officer. He is currently the National Olympic Security Coordinator and was responsible for coordinating the planning and delivery of the security operation for the Olympics and Paralympics in 2012.

Throughout his service, he has been heavily involved in the policing of public order events, these ranging from ceremonial events, football matches, small marches and demonstrations, all the way through to the resolution of severe public disorder.

Since 1996, he has been a member of the MPS Advanced Public Order Command Cadre and he is also a member of all of the other Command Cadres in the Met. As a part of these Cadres, he has undertaken a command or oversight role at most of the major events and incidents that have taken place in London over the last few years. He was the Police Gold Commander for the terrorist atrocities that took place on the London Underground on the 7th July 2005 for which he was awarded an MBE.

In the past, he has undertaken the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) lead on licensing / alcohol matters and the ACPO lead for Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear (CBRN) matters. He is now the head of the ACPO Olympic Business Area.

John Amrine serves in a senior executive role as an IPA to the Commander of the Space and Missile Systems Center (SMC) located at Los Angeles Air Force Base. As a Senior Technical Advisor, he forges new strategic partnerships between the SMC programs and the Intelligence Community. The goal of these partnerships is to optimize space systems through collaboration. In addition, he provides outreach to the war fighter to ensure they are aware of new effects from space as well as proposing and testing innovative uses of space systems to meet war fighting requirements. He also serves as the deputy of the NSA/F81 Field Office that is collocated with SMC and is responsible for providing Information Assurance support to all SMC programs.

Additionally, Mr. Amrine is responsible for regularly taking Air Force Space Command general officers and civilian seniors back to US CYBER Command and the National Security Agency for executive immersions into the cyber domain. He further assists Air Force Space Command protect their OPS centers from cyber threats/vulnerabilities.

Mr. Amrine, a native of Hawaii, was commissioned from the Air Force Academy in 1982. During his Air Force career, he held a number of assignments in space operations, acquisition, staff, and in-theater support to combat operations including assignments at the National Reconnaissance Office, National Security Agency and U.S. Space Command. He commanded at three levels: the 5th Space Surveillance Squadron at RAF Feltwell, the Space Operations Group at the Aerospace Data Facility-Colorado and the Space Based Infrared Systems Wing at Los Angeles AFB. After 26 years, he retired in the rank of Colonel.

Charlie Beck, Chief of Police Los Angeles Police Department

Charlie Beck serves as the Chief of Police for the second largest city in the United States, managing approximately 10,000 sworn and 3,000 civilian employees, encompassing an area of 473 square miles, a population of approximately 3.8 million people, and an annual budget where salaries exceed one billion dollars.

By promoting his predecessor's successful reengineering and reform effort, Chief Charlie Beck continues to evolve and refine those strategies to further the Department's position as the most effective and progressive law enforcement agency in the nation.

Chief Beck's law enforcement roots run deep with three generations of the Becks woven into the history of the Los Angeles Police Department. Chief Beck's father, George Beck, retired from the Los Angeles Police Department as a Deputy Chief; his sister, Megan, retired at the rank of Detective; his two children, Brandi and Martin, and son-in-law, Courtney, are all Los Angeles Police Officers.

Chief Beck was appointed to the Los Angeles Police Department in March 1977 after serving two years in the Los Angeles Police Reserve Corps. Chief Beck steadily rose through the ranks of the Department and was assigned as the Chief of Detectives, Detective Bureau, prior to his appointment as the 56th Chief of Police of the Los Angeles Police Department.

Madhu Beriwal President and CEO, IEM

Madhu Beriwal is Founder, President, and CEO of IEM, a global security consulting firm with more than 28 years of experience in homeland security, emergency management, and defense. IEM works closely with federal, state, and local agencies, as well as the private sector, to improve preparedness and response for natural and technological hazards and adversarial threats.

Ms. Beriwal's vision of a safer world has guided scenario-based planning efforts for some of the most vulnerable areas of the US and beyond, including the coastline of southeastern Louisiana and the earthquake-vulnerable region surrounding Istanbul, Turkey. She was one of the first to develop and apply quantitative performance measures to public protection and has led development of technologies that help public officials save lives during disasters.

A true visionary and pioneer in emergency management, Ms. Beriwal was inducted into the International Women in Homeland Security and Emergency Management Hall of Fame in 2012. She is a former member of the Army Science Board and the Defense Science Board's Task Force for Intelligence Needs on Homeland Defense and is currently a guest lecturer at the Naval Postgraduate School's Homeland Security Executive Leadership Program.

Superintendent Doug Best Assistant Criminal Operations Officer, National Security, Royal Canadian Mounted Police

A graduate of Memorial University of Newfoundland, he holds two undergraduate degrees and a graduate degree in Administration. He began his career with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in 1977 as a plain clothes investigator in the Toronto, Ontario area. Here, he worked in the fields of General Investigations, Organized Crime, Drug Enforcement and Commercial Crime. He joined the RCMP Security Service in 1981 and was transferred to National Headquarters where he worked on the China Desk. Doug remained with the Security Service when it became the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS). He worked in both the Counter Intelligence and Counter Terrorism fields as an Intelligence Officer. Prior to returning to the RCMP in 1996, he worked as a liaison officer with the Service's two oversight bodies, the Security Intelligence Review Committee (SIRC) and the Inspector General's Office (IG).

Commissioner Bruno's career in public service began in 1971, when he joined the City's Law Department. He served in various attorney and managerial posts at the Law Department and in 1987 he became the City's Fire Commissioner. Bruno was elected to the New York City Civil Court in 1991 and to the New York State Supreme Court in 2002. In March 2004, Mayor Bloomberg appointed him commissioner of the New York City Office of Emergency Management.

Since his appointment, Commissioner Bruno has overseen New York City's implementation of the Citywide Incident Management System – the City's standard for responding to and managing emergencies and planned events. In 2006, he managed the comprehensive revision of the City's Coastal Storm Plan (CSP) to ensure the City is prepared for a worst-case scenario hurricane.

During his tenure, Bruno has coordinated the City's responses to many incidents, including Hurricane Irene in August 2011, which included the first mandatory evacuation of New York City's coastal areas. In fall 2012, Bruno coordinated the City's response to Hurricane Sandy, the most devastating coastal storm in New York City history. Key operations like debris removal are ongoing.

Commissioner Bruno is a lifelong New York City resident.

Brad Burlingame
President and CEO, West Hollywood
Marketing & Visitors Bureau

Brad Burlingame has been speaking to audiences regarding the tragic events of September 11th. Mr. Burlingame's brother, Capt. Charles F. Burlingame III, was the pilot of American Airlines Flight 77 that crashed at the Pentagon.

In his speeches he recalls the sequence events on that day, receiving the call about his brother's murder, black box cockpit activity on board his brother's plane, the fight for Congressional legislation necessary to bury his brother at Arlington National Cemetery, the scope of destruction at the Pentagon and Ground Zero in New York, and the heroism of hundreds of firefighters, police officers, and first responders.

Since the tragic day, Mr. Burlingame has been invited to be the keynote speaker on September 11th anniversary ceremonies at the Ronald Reagan Presidential Library, the Los Angeles Fire Department headquarters, the City of Anaheim memorial ceremony, and the City of Beverly Hills Fire Department headquarters. He was also asked to speak by Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa at the City of Los Angeles 10th anniversary memorial ceremony. His remarks have resonated in the small group setting of a fire station dining hall and before thousands in a municipal plaza.

Michael Chertoff
Co-Founder and Chairman,
Chertoff Group

As Secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) from 2005 to 2009, Mr. Chertoff led the country in blocking potential terrorists from crossing our borders or implementing their plans if they were already in the country. He also transformed FEMA into an effective organization following Hurricane Katrina. His greatest successes have earned few headlines – because the important news is what didn't happen.

At The Chertoff Group, Mr. Chertoff provides high-level strategic counsel to corporate and government leaders on a broad range of security issues. Before his tenure at DHS, Mr. Chertoff served as a federal judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and was Assistant Attorney General of the United States, Criminal Division. Earlier, during more than a decade as a federal prosecutor, he investigated and prosecuted cases of political corruption, organized crime, corporate fraud and terrorism – including the investigation of the 9/11 terrorist attacks. Mr. Chertoff is a magna cum laude graduate of Harvard College (1975) and Harvard Law School (1978).

In addition to his role at The Chertoff Group, Mr. Chertoff is also senior counsel at Covington & Burling LLP, and a member of the firm's White Collar Defense and Investigations practice group.

As CSIS is an intelligence led organization, Mr. Peirce is also responsible for setting the intelligence collection requirements for the Service.

Mr. Peirce joined CSIS from the Department of Justice Canada (DOJ) where he was the Deputy Executive Director and General Counsel with the CSIS Legal Services.

He has worked in the national security field throughout his career in government, including representing the Service before courts and tribunals and as the Lead Counsel for the Government of Canada during the inquiry into the Actions of Canadian Officials in Relation to Abdullah Almalki, Ahmad Abou-Elmaati and Muayyed Nureddin.

Mr. Peirce worked in a variety of positions at the DOJ. He spent three years as the Director of Legal Operations at the Privy Council Office. Mr. Peirce has also taught Comparative Constitutional Law and Legal Research and Advocacy as an associate at Columbia University and lectured at University of Ottawa and Carleton University.

Mr. Peirce has a BA from the University of Toronto and LLB from the University of Western Ontario, an LLM from the University of Wisconsin and an LLM from Columbia University.

John S. Pistole
Administrator

John S. Pistole was confirmed as the Transportation Security Administration's (TSA) fifth Administrator in July 2010. As TSA Administrator, he oversees management of a 60,000-strong workforce, the security operations of 450 federalized airports throughout the U.S., the Federal Air Marshal Service (FAMS), and the security for highways, railroads, ports, mass transit systems and pipelines.

Pistole came to TSA as a 26-year veteran of the FBI. After the tragic events of September 11, 2001, he was put in charge of the FBI's counterterrorism program, eventually becoming the FBI's Executive Assistant Director for Counterterrorism and Counterintelligence. In 2004, Pistole was named Deputy Director for the FBI.

His experience includes several high profile investigations, including the attempted car bombing in Times Square on May 1, 2010; the December 25, 2009, attempted attack on Northwest Flight 253; the plot against New York City subways in 2009; the 2006 UK liquid explosives plot; and the May 2003 suicide bombings in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, in which 35 people died, including nine Americans.

Pistole practiced law for two years prior to joining the FBI. He is a graduate of Anderson University (Indiana) and Indiana University School of Law – Indianapolis. He is married and has two daughters.

NASA Astronaut Garrett Reisman

Dr. Reisman was selected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) as a mission specialist astronaut in 1998. His first mission was aboard the Space Shuttle Endeavour which dropped him off after a 95 day mission aboard the International Space Station after which he returned to Earth aboard the Space Shuttle Atlantis and returned Dr. Reisman to the Space Station. During these missions, Dr. Reisman performed three spacewalks, operated the Space Station Robot Arm and was a flight engineer aboard the Space Shuttle.

But more importantly, he was featured on multiple episodes of the 'Colbert Report'. In February of 2011, Dr. Reisman left NASA to become the DragonRider Program Manager at SpaceX in Hawthorne, California. In his new job, he is working with NASA to prepare SpaceX's Falcon 9 rocket and Dragon spacecraft to carry astronauts and is responsible for contracts with NASA totaling over $500 million. Thus, he is a major player in both the American space program's past and future.

Dr. Reisman holds a B.S. in Economics and a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering and Applied Mechanics from the University of Pennsylvania, an M.S. in Mechanical Engineering from the California Institute of Technology, and a Ph.D. in Mechanical Engineering from the California Institute of Technology. He is an FAA Certified Flight Instructor.

“Homeland Security Begins With Hometown Security”

Welcome to the 2013 National Homeland Security (NHS) Conference in Los Angeles!

2013 marks the seventh iteration of the NHS Conference. The Conference began out of the Urban Area Security Initiative grant program and the need for urban areas to establish an effective information sharing platform. Since then the NHS Conference has grown exponentially to include all homeland security disciplines, representatives from across the nation, and a focus on contemporary homeland security issues and the cutting edge best practices in all homeland security disciplines. The 2013 NHS Conference continues on this historical expansion and provides opportunities for stakeholders from all areas of homeland security and emergency preparedness to gather together and exchange important information to make our nation and its urban areas safer. For the first time the NHS Conference will host presentations by international experts who have traveled from London, Japan, Israel, Canada, and Australia to join the collaboration here at the 2013 NHS Conference.

The goal of the annual National Homeland Security Conference is to foster the exchange of information across the homeland security community. Toward that effort, the 2013 NHS Conference joined forces with the Leadership in Counterterrorism Conference (LinCT) for the first time this year in order to create one large conference of homeland security experts. Be sure to review the program and take advantage of the impressive sessions organized by our LinCT partners.

The agenda includes a broader range of homeland security topics than ever before. Speakers from across the nation and all levels of government as well as the private sector and a number of academics have traveled to Los Angeles to be a part of this week's important homeland security discussions. The NHS Conference is especially proud of the speakers from the local Los Angeles region that will be highlighted throughout the conference, to include County of Los Angeles Sheriff Lee Baca, Los Angeles Police Department Chief Charlie Beck, Long Beach Police Department Chief Jim McDonnell, City of Los Angeles Fire Chief Brian Cummings, County of Los Angeles Fire Chief Darryl Osby, and City of Los Angeles Emergency Manager James Featherstone.

The daily agenda begins with keynote speakers followed by plenary panel presentations and lunch with guest speakers. Additionally, eleven program tracks are offered as well:

- Interoperability, Information Sharing and Intelligence
- Port Security
- Transit Security
- Emergency Management
- Medical and Health
- Fire Discipline
- Public-Private Partnerships
- Pre-Planned Events
- Grants and Program Management
- Department of Defense Support to Emergency Management
- The Role of the SAA

In addition, this year the NHS Conference is featuring a series of educational tours of the Los Angeles' region's homeland security assets, panel presentations on Hurricane Sandy and the recent events in Boston, and a very special host city reception on board the historic USS Iowa Battleship on the eve of the 69th anniversary of D-Day.

The 2013 NHS Conference is thrilled to present to you an event that showcases the best practices, strong leadership and exemplary partnerships that are tackling the most important topics in homeland security. Thank you for being here and being part of that conversation.

Leadership in Counter Terrorism Overview

President
Vice President

Paul Vrbanac

The Leadership in Counter Terrorism Alumni Association (LinCT- AA) membership consists of program graduates. The purpose of the Association is to continue and extend the learning, cooperation and relationships developed between the senior law enforcement, intelligence, and military officials who have completed this international CT program. The following is a brief overview of the LinCT program and its history:

LinCT was initiated in 2004 as a joint leadership project between the FBI, Scottish Police College, the Police Service of Northern Ireland, The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Harvard University and St. Andrews University;

Focus is on the prevention of terrorism;

There are three primary threads of content that are integrated throughout the program: Counter Terrorism, Intelligence and Leadership;

The program is primarily strategic rather than operational;

The critical outcomes are to improve inter-agency cooperation through enhanced communications, information sharing and personal relationships;

In 2006 the program was expanded to the Pacific Region in partnership with the Australian Federal Police and the Australian Institute of Police Management;

Participants represent the partner countries' domestic and Federal Law Enforcement, Military, and Intelligence Communities;

Program format includes an annual reconvention for program graduates to stay current and to expand important relationships; and

The LinCT program is governed by an international Board of Governors consisting of the Chief Executive Officers from the participating countries' lead agencies.
